Remarks

Re inspection of kennel... There were a total of 178 adult dogs and 24 puppies on the premises at the time of inspection.

21.21a In the whelping room the wire on top of the cage was not fastened down and there was a staple that was hanging on wire which the dog in the pen could come in contact with. There was also one pen that had a self-waterer that had a hole in it spraying water on the dog that was housed in this pen in the whelping room.

21.21b Many of the whelping boxes had exposed wood that needs to be sealed.

21.21c There was feces located along the walls of kennel in large adult room this is evidence of inadequate drainage.

21.23a and b One pen housing four dogs does not meet the size requirements, this is pen #11.

21.26 The broken window along the left side of kennel provides constant cold air flow into the kennel directly on the dogs that are in pens in front of the window.

21.28a and c Many of the self- feeders and food were contaminated by feces and mouse droppings. There was also moldy food and caked on food.

21.28d The shavings provided as bedding for puppies was soiled and dirty in many of the whelping boxes.

21.29a There was feces smeared in the floors of some of the whelping boxes.

21.29b There was dog boxes that had feces smeared on the floors as well as hair and debris build up in pens.

21.29c There was a large accumulation of mouse droppings all through out the kennel in feeders and on the floor.

All record information was unsatisfactory because the records were not at the kennel during the inspection; the owner was also not there.

21.30 Many dogs were matted, two needing immediate vet care.

Remarks

On December 20, 2008, this warden supervisor, along with supervisor Rickee Miller and kennel compliance specialist Megan Caskey did a kennel inspection of this facility. West Earl Township police officer Frederick Riccelli Jr. accompanied us with a copy of the court order signed by Judge Howard Knisely. A total of 98 dogs and 3 puppies were on the premises making a total of 101 on the property. The inspection had the following unsatisfactory sections that this warden noted:

- 1) 21.21 b Whelping room has scratched and chewed wood which is not currently water sealed. Some of those kennels have spots where the wire coating has come off on the sides and they have become rusty. Other wire throughout the kennel also shows signs of rust.
  - 2) 21.28 a Several automatic feeders were contaminated with feces in the food
  - 3) 21.28 c Several automatic feeders were contaminated with caked on food, hair and a buildup of other debris.
  - 4) 21.29 b There were several pens which had a buildup of hair and debris including feces on the wire flooring and cross members that the dogs had direct contact with.
  - 5) 21.29 c There were some pens that had a buildup of hair, feces, and other debris. There were cobwebs in different areas of the kennel. There was also a dead mouse noted on the floor of the kennel and rodent droppings in the kennel.
  - 6) 21.41a Complete records were not made available to this warden. There were some records in the kennel, but even after the kennel owner had records brought in from the home, they were incomplete.
  - 7) 21.42 There was no bill of sale for some of the dogs that were no longer at the kennel.
  - 8) Other- There were dogs at the kennel that were in need of grooming and that had overgrown nails.
- Many of these issues and unsatisfactory marks were the same ones the kennel owner had been made aware of in the past.

Separate from the inspection, pursuant to Judge Knisely's court order, Bureau of Dog law was to remove any and all dogs over the limit of the 25 dogs that could be individually licensed as per state law. While in the process of removing of the balance of dogs by Dog Law, Ervin Zimmerman signed over ownership of 96 dogs that were on his property and the 3 remaining dogs that were being held by the Humane League of Lancaster County. He kept ownership of 3 adult dogs and 2 un-weaned pups. The Bureau of Dog Law assisted in the transport of the dogs to the Humane League of Lancaster County.
